C. J. HATZ APPOINTED CITY COUNCILMAN!

TWO BANDITS IN STOLEN CAR DASH BY POSSE

Man-Hunters, On Steps Of Sheriff's Office, See Sensational Flight

SACRAMENTO, May 5.—Joe Tanko and Floyd Hall, escaped San Quentin murderers, staged a sensational holdup of an auto stage today near North Bloomfield, Nevada county, according to a report flashed to police here from Detective Verne Dill at Nevada City.

The stage driver was covered with a rifle as he rounded a curve and later was thrown from the driver's seat as Tanko and Hall climbed aboard and fled in the stage.

The stage driver positively identified the men as Tanko and Hall, according to word received here.

Deputy sheriffs and citizens took up the trail of the flying bandits.

Driver Is Missing
The auto stage was found later three miles south of Grass Valley on the state highway leading to Auburn. No trace has been found of the stage driver, however.

The daring exhibited by the two men believed to be Hall and Tanko has left this section amazed.

After capturing the auto stage four miles north of North Bloomfield, near Nevada City, the bandits drove it for twenty-five miles, passing directly through the main street of Nevada City and in front of a posse sitting on the steps of the sheriff's office.

Race After Stage
The car had passed the office and was a block or so away when one of the pursuers thought he recognized the fugitives. A race after the auto stage was immediately started.

At a point three miles south of Grass Valley the bandits were so closely pressed by the posse that they were forced to abandon the stage, leaving it on the highway.

Tanko and Hall took to the thick brush nearby and apparently again succeeded in eluding a posse of would-be captors.

President In Accord With Houghton Talk

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Coolidge regards Ambassador Houghton's speech in London last night as a correct interpretation of what the American people would like to see accomplished in Europe, it was said at the White House today.

President Coolidge expressed the wish to callers that the ambassador's interpretation of American sentiment would prove useful in the general situation.

Regarding future loans to Europe, the president believes they must be made with "discretion" and only in cases where it is apparent they will be used for constructive purposes and not for military and imperialistic purposes, callers were informed.

RUM ROW HAS SIX CRUISERS ON WATCH

U. S. 'Dry' Navy Puts To Sea In Mightiest Campaign Against Runners

By M. A. De PARMA
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, May 5.—The advance guard of the United States "dry" navy put to sea today to open its war against the rum fleet, thirty miles at sea.

The detachment, six cruisers and twenty speed boats, left the coast guard base at Clifton, Staten Island, under orders to blockade rum row.

All the boats were armed with machine guns "and one pounders." The cruisers were the Seneca, Redwing, Gresham, Yamaraw, Manhattan and Agumet.

A party of men landing liquor from a launch at Seabright, N. J., this morning were surprised and scattered by guardsmen. Fourteen cases of liquor were seized.

Another step in one of the government's biggest crusades against bootlegging was the falling of nineteen members of the Staten Island unit of the Coast guard. The men were charged with dishonest practices in connection with prohibition enforcement.

They were arrested last night. Watch Every Cove

EUROPE GIVEN WARNING BY HOUGHTON

Ambassador to Great Britain With Unusual Frankness 'Lays Down Law'

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, May 5.—Ambassador Houghton's maiden speech in London in which he stated with unusual frankness that unless the nations of Europe abandon their warlike bickering and get back to constructive work they need not look to America for any more help, is an accurate reflection of President Coolidge's views, it was ascertained today.

The ambassador, it was said, "spoke by the book." Fresh from conferences with President Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg and other administration leaders, Houghton outlined with remarkable clarity and force the major tenets that are to guide the formation of American policy abroad for the next three years.

High Official Praise
In every authoritative administration quarter today there was voiced high praise of Ambassador Houghton's speech—something that has not always been true concerning ambassadorial utterances at Pilgrim dinners. Particular commendation was accorded the ambassador for cutting away the usual diplomatic "hokum" and bluntly telling Europe what is in the American mind.

The two paragraphs of Houghton's speech especially praised in administrative circles today, were: "The full measure of American helpfulness can be obtained only when the American people are assured that the time for destructive methods and policies has passed and that the time for peaceful upbuilding has come."

"Up to Europe
"Americans are asking themselves if that time has arrived. The answer must come from the people of Europe, who, alone, can make the decision. If the answer is peace, America will help to her generous utmost. But if that answer shall continue to be confused and doubtful, then I fear those helpful processes must inevitably cease. We are not, as a people, interested in making speculative advances."

In other words, the United States is asking themselves if that time has arrived. The answer must come from the people of Europe, who, alone, can make the decision.

Loan Of Ships Denied By International Firm

NEW YORK, May 5.—The International Mercantile Marine Co. today stamped as "without foundation" reports that five of its vessels were to be loaned to the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. Rumors from San Francisco had stated that the Baltic, Kronland, Finland, Celtic and Mongolia were to be turned over to the Pacific Mail.

"We have not enough tonnage for our own requirements," an official of the company said. "We have been in the market for additional tonnage for the past five years but have not been able to get the proper kind of ships."

At World Parley of Women

AGE OF JAZZ IS HEARTILY DEFENDED

Marchioness Of Aberdeen In Favor Of Independence By New Generation

By FRED J. WALKER
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, May 5.—Modern youth was heartily defended today by Marchioness of Aberdeen, titled president of the International Council of Women.

In an interview with International News Service the marchioness declared American bobbed-haired, rouge-kneed, saucy-dispositioned flappers and the equally familiar "drugstore cowboy" will be the salvation of the world.

"I think today's young people are the most splendid the world has seen. They have ordered trails, of course, but their independence is at the bottom of that familiar complaint," Lady Aberdeen continued.

Called Independent
"Who would think of comparing the 18-year-old girl of today with a similar youth of 100 years ago? The modern boy or girl is more intelligent, thinks independently and refuses to accept everything blindly."

"Naturally it is disconcerting at times to be forced to accept a radically new attitude from children when we were bound by strict discipline and stricter conventions in our teens. But the new generation should be a direct example of the sound outlook of the present-day youths."

Lady Aberdeen believes that refusal by present-day children to believe everything they are told will cause international revision of present-day hostilities and pettishness.

Meets Opposition
This view, however, met with violent disagreement from other delegates to the convention.

Frau Clara Mende, noted German political leader and member of the Reichstag, thinks the flapper and her boy friend need a big portion of pre-war discipline—specifically, a concerted move by parents toward slippers and hair brushes, dusty with disuse.

Non-Smokers Offered More Pay Per Hour

SHERBURNE, N. Y., May 5.—J. F. Paddiford, a local contractor, announced today that he would pay non-smokers 5 cents an hour more than others. He said smokers were worth less because of the time consumed in lighting pipes and cigarettes.

McClintock Probe Is Delayed Thirty Days

CHICAGO, May 5.—The triple-barreled McClintock-Olson death probe was further delayed today when it was decided that no verdict on the deaths of William Nelson McClintock, his mother, Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, and Dr. Oscar Olson, would be returned for thirty days.

During this time, it was announced at the inquest today, the coroner's jury will be held in readiness to hear any additional evidence which might implicate the three.

The situation is critical, the foreign office declared, because of the possibility of a revolt of native tribes.

The Evening News to Give Returns on L. A. Election

The Glendale Evening News will tonight furnish returns on the Los Angeles municipal election. The polls close at 7 p. m. and soon afterward partial returns will be coming in. Those unable to come to The Glendale Evening News office, 139 South Brand, where returns will be announced and posted, may secure information by calling this office, Glendale 4000.

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—With both the Cryer and Bledsoe forces claiming a prospective victory, the polls today were opened in the hottest mayoralty contest ever to be held in this city.

Voters were "turning out" early. If the ratio of votes cast during the first six hours is maintained, it is expected that a total of 181,000 votes will be recorded out of the registration of 379,553.

The tenseness of the mayoralty fight was disclosed when it became known that sentinels from both the Cryer and Bledsoe camps had been stationed at every polling precinct to carefully check the vote.

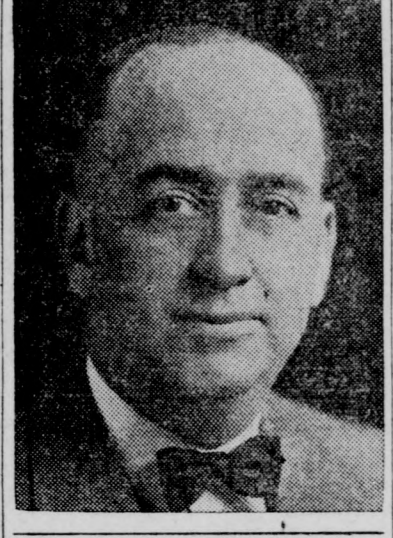

Each citizen was scrutinized as he approached the polling places and irregular voters were immediately challenged, it was reported.

Managers of the two candidates today were striving with every political weapon at their command to get out a heavy vote and swing the ballot to their man.

Both candidates made a whirlwind finish to their campaigns last night.

FLEET TO BID FAREWELL TO HONOLULU

Prepare to End Cruise After Minor Maneuvers Off Lahaina

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service.
HONOLULU, May 5.—While 800 officers attended the fourth session today of the critique arranged to teach the lesson of the joint army-navy maneuvers off Hawaii, the men of the United States fleet were preparing to bid farewell to Honolulu.

Thursday morning the fleet will leave for minor maneuvers off Lahaina, on Maui island, about fifty miles from here.

The fleet, led by the flagship U. S. S. Seattle, will anchor May 9 in Lahaina roads and, according to present plans, the ship will remain off Maui until May 18. Minor maneuvers will follow, ending May 25, it was announced today.

Returning to Honolulu the last week in May, the fleet will prepare for ending the cruise. Part of the ships will go on to Australia, the others returning to the United States, sailing June 8.

PRESIDENT OF MERCHANTS' BODY NEW OFFICIAL

Select Business Man To Fill Vacancy; Approval Over Appointment

Charles J. Hatz, 702 North Central avenue, president of the Glendale Merchants' association, and prominent in business circles here, was unanimously elected to the City Council today to fill the seat made vacant by the inability of F. L. Muhleman to accept the office to which he was "elected" at the recent municipal election.

Hatz was nominated at the beginning of the council session today by Councilman S. C. Kinch. His nomination was seconded by Councilman C. E. Kimlin. Hatz was called from the audience in the council chamber to take the oath of office and his name was placed at the top of the official roll call.

Although three petitions for appointment were submitted in behalf of F. L. Muhleman, S. S. Gihuly and Ed F. Heiser, they were not considered until some time later in the regular order of business. Then they were ordered filed without action.

City Attorney's View
After Hatz' appointment, however, an opinion to the council by City Attorney Ray L. Morrow, indicating that Muhleman had been considered in executive session, held that "there is a serious doubt as to Muhleman's eligibility for appointment at this time."

Explaining his stand, Morrow said that the charter provides that a candidate for City Council shall have been a qualified elector for a period of one year next preceding his election. While Muhleman has resided in Glendale now for one year, he was not a qualified elector until after he had resided here for thirty days, Morrow said.

Under that ruling, Muhleman will not have been a qualified elector in Glendale for one year until June 3.

Prominent in Business
Hatz, proprietor of a women's wearing apparel store at 132 South Brand boulevard, has lived in Glendale for the past five years, coming here from Seattle, where for many years he operated a similar establishment. He is now serving his second term as president of the Merchants' association.

DAMAGED

PAUL'S DOCTRINE TOLD BY PASTOR

Divine Decrees And Their Power, Theme Of Rev.
Edmonds Sunday

Rev. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church, preached Sunday morning on "Paul's Doctrine of the Divine Decrees," saying:

"Here in these words is strength for you; here is stability, here is the steel and the granite. Paul was never in a panic, because God was in control. Paul's God is no weakling. He is sovereign, the Master of the universe. Therefore His servant is not afraid. He walks the earth with quiet and absolute confidence. He faces the future with undiminished hope. Paul believed in predestination."

"This doctrine furnishes serious difficulties to many good people. The difficulties are not imaginary. Is God arbitrary? Is He partial? Has He from all eternity past decreed one portion of the human race to everlasting happiness and another portion to everlasting woe? Is the world what it is today because of God's foreordination? If so, how can God escape responsibility for the existence of sin? Is not divine justice reduced to fiction?"

"These are some of the difficulties connected with predestination. But, I ask, are they real difficulties or is not the difficulty in the limitation of the human mind to comprehend the doctrine?"

"We lay it down as a safe rule to begin with that the child of God should go fearlessly and unhesitatingly wherever the word of God may lead. A doctrine is true, not because it is pleasant to believe or easy to understand or popular with the masses but because it is a vital part of the credentialed scriptures. The Christian must be willing to sacrifice human reason and human logic to the explicit statements of scripture, for reason and logic may be fallible. The scripture is infallible and inspired and inerrant in all questions of faith and practice. It invites the test of experience; it gives us the truest and clearest visions of God and reveals His every relation to the believer is that of a Father."

"God owes us nothing, is not responsible to us. Logically, that is true; morally, it is a lie. God is under obligation—obligation of love and mercy. God is bound to be true to Himself and to say that He may arbitrarily save one and damn another is to bring an indictment against the character of God as black as hell itself. Think you that God is glorified in the damnation of His creatures? It is not His will that one of the least of these should perish. God's glory is His goodness, His grace and if His grace longs for the salvation of one soul He longs as much for all."

Predestination
"What is predestination? It is God's plan for man's redemption. Keep this clearly before us, first, negatively, then positively, and not that God's decrees nullify human freedom. We cannot reconcile divine sovereignty and man's free agency. We must believe both."
"The Bible's strongest statement of predestination and also its strongest statement of divine love are placed side by side, and the two are joined together with the question 'What then shall we say to these things?' Predestination there and inseparable love here? What shall we say to predestination, to inseparable love? The best thing that can befall the world is the accomplishment of God's will. His plan is wisest, His purpose is most beneficent."
"Predestination means that the will of the Lord will be done, for omnipotence is behind it. God's plan will certainly be carried out in every detail. Delays are not defeats with God. Individuals may reject His plan, but they cannot thwart His purpose."

Blessed Creed
"Such is the Bible doctrine of predestination. God has a will about the world; His will is what it has always been. It is the ex-

Lotta Laughs

HAROLD LLOYD, America's comedy king, who appears at the Cosmo theatre in "Why Worry?"

Laughs galore are in store for patrons of Cosmo theatre. Brand

Word of God. "Why Worry," with Harold Lloyd, will be the feature film. "Scar Hagan," a thrilling story of the great outdoors, also will be shown. It is just as necessary to laugh as it is to exercise, or to eat, for that matter. This, at least, is the opinion of the world's foremost psychopathic experts, who repeatedly have issued advice that the world would be a better place to live in if all would laugh more.

Consequently, any person engaged in the business of making others laugh is a boon to humanity. Harold Lloyd, D. L. (Doctor of Laughs) is doing his share.

Where, medicine fails, Lloyd cures. This is no idle statement, for there is not a day in the year that the young comedian fails to receive a letter telling how somebody's ailments had been alleviated through seeing Lloyd perform on the screen.

Luboviski Trio Will Present Radio Bill

R. F. Kitterman, vice-president and manager of the Glendale branch of the Security Trust & Savings bank, announces that the reorganized Luboviski trio has been engaged to furnish the Security program to be broadcast over KNX between 8 and 9 o'clock on Wednesday night. In addition to Mr. Luboviski, violinist, the trio is composed of Franz Gagna, cellist, and Joseph Vesce, pianist. Gagna is a noted Boston musician who will be heard for the first time in Southern California in this concert. Solo and ensemble numbers will be played.

pression of His love. Its accomplishment is the best that can befall the world and its accomplishment is sure. Predestination is not a doctrine we need to defend, but to proclaim. It is a blessed creed and worthy to be proclaimed from the housetop. It is the most transcendent doctrine ever formulated of the worth of man.
"Furthermore, predestination means that salvation is not an accident, a matter of chance or an afterthought. Before the church was called into being, before Christ died on Calvary, before symbolic altars ran with sacrificial blood, before creation, aye, before the morning stars sang together, back in the depths of His eternal council God had a plan, and this plan He will follow to the end. This does not mean that there is no unfolding of His plan and purpose."

CRUZE FILM LAST TIME AT GATEWAY

'Goose Hangs High' Ends
Run Tonight; All-Star
Cast Is Seen

If the quintet of featured players who portray the leading roles in James Cruze's production, "The Goose Hangs High," particular interest attaches to George Irving, veteran stage and screen actor.

A native of New York where he was educated at the city college, Irving succumbed early in life to the lure of the footlights. He has been in the theatrical business continuously since 1897, although his screen career dates back only to 1913.

His stage repertoire included such sterling successes as "The Little Minister," "The Servant in the House," "Jimmy Valentine" and others. Like so many of his actor brethren, Irving spent several years in stock, where he acquired valuable experience and training.

Director First
His first Paramount appearance was in the Zane Grey production, "The Wanderer of the Westland." Paradoxical as it may sound, his early training in motion pictures was obtained through directing and in this capacity he served most of the large producing organizations.

In "The Goose Hangs High," which is showing last times tonight at the Gateway theatre, Irving portrays a typical American father whose efforts to feed, clothe and educate a family on his meager salary involve considerable sacrifice and self-denial.

His role in this photoplay is a particularly congenial one, and Irving does some very effective work.

Other acting honors fall to the lot of Myrtle Stedman, Constance Bennett, Edward Pell, Jr., and Esther Ralston.

OPTIMISTIC FOR FUTURE OF CITY

H. L. Miller Expresses His
Viewpoint And Faith
In Glendale

H. L. Miller, of the H. L. Miller Co., is one of the oldest real estate and insurance men in this city, having been engaged in that business here for seventeen years. He has seen the city grow from a small village to its present size.

In a recent conversation he said: "I have faith not only in Glendale's continued growth but in all Southern California. The temporary lull in business the past few months is passing and already I see marked signs of improvement. Thousands of tourists are pouring into the state every day and will continue to do so for months to come, after which the winter crop will begin to come and many of them will remain permanently. A large proportion of the people who spent last winter in Florida have had enough of it and will change to a country where the climate is delightful for twelve months in the year."

"Yes, I have faith in the near future and accordingly have reorganized my entire office force to take care of the good business which I am sure is about here. As heretofore, the general management of the office will be conducted by myself and my personal attention will be directed to my large insurance business, where I am ably assisted by Miss Henrietta Farrow, a woman of ability and large experience in the insurance field."

Realty Department
"The management of the real estate department is under the direction of O. A. Alsbaugh, who for ten years previous to coming here was engaged in the real estate business in Akron, Ohio, and who for the past two years has been active along the same line in Glendale. He is well acquainted with every detail of the business and well posted on local values. Mr. Alsbaugh's motto has always been that a real estate agent or broker should give as much consideration to the buyer as to the seller and treat them both fairly, rendering a service based on the Golden Rule. Mr. Alsbaugh is assisted by E. R. Thurston, a salesman of ability."

"Our loan department is managed by H. M. Motkus, who has had a world of successful experience as an architect, builder and loan man and the great volume of loan business transacted through our office the past six months attests the wisdom of the arrangement. The rental department is ably managed by Miss Margaret Deringer, who will devote all her time to the business and will make a specialty of finding rentable homes for the most discriminating."

Boy Scouts To Give Program At School

Scoutmaster Francis Wallace states that pupils of Pearl Keller, pupils of the Emerson school and members of the troop will entertain.

Fear Reigns

Terror and comedy rule in "Secrets of the Night," to be shown last times tonight at GLENDALE THEATRE

How the power of fear tends to throw mentally alert people off their balance is disclosed in the picture of Guy Bolton's Broadway success, "Secrets of the Night," and showing for the last times tonight at the Glendale theatre.

James Kirkwood and Madge Bellamy have the feature roles in the all star cast that made the production. Kirkwood has the part of a bank president who is thrown into a panic by reason of a crisis that confronts the bank; and Miss Bellamy is his ward. Each is in love with the other, but each believes the other in love with someone else. The time comes when this cross purpose of beliefs is the cause of numerous complications.

This picture is a vehicle that gives full play to extravagancies of melodrama and of serio-comedy, and to the purpose that this is done well the featured players are supported by a cast of unusual prominence, the majority having come to screen work after winning laurels on the speaking stage.

The leading comedy roles are most capably cared for by Zasu Pitts, Tom Wilson and Otto Hoffman. Others in the cast are Rosemary Theby, Tom Ricketts, Tom S. Gule, Joseph Singleton, Arthur Stewart Hull, Edward Cecil, Frederick Cole, Tyrone Berton, Arthur Morrison, Arthur Thalasso and Anton Vaverka.

PLAYHOUSE DARK TO PLAY DRAMA

Previous Reservation by Club
Prevents Dobinson Co.
Giving Performance

The Tuesday Afternoon club having reserved the theatre, there will be no performance of "The Wonderful Thing" at the Glendale Playhouse tonight. The performance will be resumed Wednesday night, however, to continue the rest of the week.

Reservations are coming in rapidly for the May party which the Dobinson Players will extend to their friends at the Glendale Playhouse, Thursday night, May 7. It will be in the spirit of "Au revoir," for next Monday the Players open at the Philharmonic auditorium in Los Angeles for a two weeks' engagement.

The regular performance of "The Wonderful Thing" will be given on Thursday night. Immediately after the last curtain a buffet supper will be served in the Tuesday Afternoon club's dining room adjoining the Playhouse, and a dance will follow.

There will be a good orchestra. The Players will be assisted in receiving by twenty prominent women of Glendale.

Rehearsing "Manna"
Fred J. Butler, director of Players, is conducting rehearsals this week at the Playhouse for "Manna," breaking in one or two new members of the cast. Gertrude Keller, an accomplished and versatile actress, who is a favorite with Playhouse audiences as well as those of Los Angeles, where she earned a big reputation, takes the part of "Pansy."

This is one of the important bits which was adequately though not strikingly done in the local production. Miss Keller will, because of her power, make this character stand out significantly.

"The Wonderful Thing" played to a big house on Saturday night and there was a fair Monday evening audience. The character of "Jacqueline," the little French wife, is one of the most appealing assigned to Doris Lloyd since she joined the Dobinson Players and she has made the most of her opportunities. She has endeared herself still further to patrons of the Playhouse.

Plans for the new theatre for the Dobinson Players are going ahead satisfactorily. There are many details to be ironed out, but it is hoped to make a definite announcement as to the location of the site within a few days.

MOTOR CAR DEALERS LEAVE FOR ANNUAL 'HI JINKS'

SAW CELL BAR IN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Strict Orders On Visiting Prisoners At City Jail Issued By Chief

Apparently aided by an outside accomplice who passed a steel saw through the barred door of the main cell, prisoners who have been held there during the past few days attempted a desperate jailbreak, it was revealed today when Chief of Police John D. Fraser issued strict orders against further visiting with jail inmates. The attempt was frustrated only by the vigilance of the headquarters officers.

There are two steel barred windows and one barred door on one side of the cell. One bar, nearly three-quarters of an inch thick, was neatly sawed more than half in two near the bottom of the window nearest the side entrance to the police station.

Keep Close Watch
Although the prisoner who attempted to escape was not caught in the act, it is believed that he was forced to quit operations because of the fact that the desk sergeants and other police officers make very frequent trips in the corridor of the jail, and watch carefully through a small window from the desk sergeant's office.

An investigation is under way today in an attempt to discover the identity of the accomplice who evidently smuggled the saw into the jail. Tom Lafferty, confessed ex-convict, who calmly told police officers here of a career that has led him to many prison terms in Canada and the United States, is suspected of the attempted jail break, although the saw was not found in his possession. It has vanished into thin air.

To County Jail
Lafferty was transferred to the county jail after arraignment before Police Judge F. H. Lowe on charge of attempted burglary. He was captured by neighbors when discovered looting the home of G. L. Harrington, 519 N. Doran street, and lodged in jail by Police Sergeants Blake and Lauritzen. Lafferty's bail was set at $3000 cash or $6000 property bond, which he failed to raise. His hearing has been set for May 13 at 10 o'clock.

Persons who wish to visit prisoners hereafter must obtain permission from the desk sergeant on duty before he may enter the jail corridor.

WELLER TELLS WORKING OF LAWMAKERS

Assemblyman Is Speaker At Meeting Of Republican Club Last Night

Assemblyman Frank C. Weller, just back from the Legislature, explained major legislation now before Governor Richardson for his signature, at the meeting of the Glendale Republican club last night. Additional bond issues that will come up on the ballot in June, aggregating $28,500,000, were also explained by Mr. Weller. Passage of the $20,000,000 veterans' welfare act—issue and of the amounts necessary for University of California, southern branch, and a new state building in Los Angeles, were urged by the assemblyman.

Governor Richardson will in all probability make a special trip to Southern California to ascertain the attitude of the south before signing or vetoing the 3-cent gasoline tax bill, Mr. Weller said. An amicable and satisfactory settlement of the gas tax dispute is promised in a new plan soon to be advanced by the secretary of the State Highway commission. Mr. Weller declared. Reapportionment will finally win out on its own merits when the question is placed on the ballot as an initiative measure, the speaker predicted.

Gives Prize Essay
J. C. Sherer, James Everington, Sr., and W. H. Richards, members of the Republican club committee on municipal affairs, reported on the establishment of the Glendale Municipal league. In his discussion of political conditions in the ninth congressional district, R. S. Person advocated election of delegates from the assembly districts to represent these districts at the Republican conference, held to decide on the Republican nominees prior to each political campaign. He said changes in policy that will invite bigger and more capable men into the political field are necessary in the district. Mr. Person said he has resigned from both the county central committee and the executive board of the committee. He will yield the reins of the Glendale Republican club to H. V. Adams as soon as Mr. Adams returns from a trip in the east, he said.

Elsie Forsythe, winner of the Glendale Union High school oratorical contests, repeated her address on the Constitution at the meeting last night, held at the Wilson Intermediate school. President Person presided.

CHEST DRIVE FOR 1926 IS ASSURED

Despite 1925 Quota Failed To Reach Expectations, Work To Continue

The Glendale Community Chest will be continued another year, despite the fact that the quota to be raised for the 1925 budget fell short of the mark. This decision was reached at a joint meeting of directors of the chest and representatives of the beneficiaries at Chamber of Commerce headquarters last night. After discussion of the advisability of continuing the community chest movement in Glendale, it was unanimously voted that a chest drive should be staged again next year and that plans for the drive be got under way at once.

New directors of the chest who were elected at the meeting last night are: D. Ripley Jackson, George D. McMill, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, Mrs. E. W. Hayward, Mrs. Fred Beach, Frank C. Ayars, Mrs. E. D. Yard, Mrs. J. M. Eyerick, Mrs. E. J. Morgan, Michael Gannon, Mrs. Edith Dockery, Albert G. Cornwell, Mrs. F. W. Cowlin, B. B. Weatherall, C. M. Davis, W. Hewitt, Frank L. Fox, C. W. Ingledien, H. P. The new directors will meet at the Chamber of Commerce offices next Monday night and will elect ten members to the executive board. The matter of incorporating the Community Chest under the laws of California will be left for consideration of the new executive officers, it was stated today. A report by R. F. Kitterman, treasurer, showed that beneficiaries have received 35 per cent of their original allotment for 1925 to date. A further disbursement of funds will be made shortly, although only approximately 60 per cent of the allotment can be paid from the funds pledged during the chest drive, it was said.

ORDINANCE ON FIREWORKS AMENDED

Law Prohibiting Sale Not To Become Effective Until July 5

An ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks in Glendale was adopted by the City Council today after it had been amended to place its effect on July 5, one day after the Fourth of July. It received a unanimous vote.

The measure, introduced two weeks ago by Councilman W. F. Tower at the request of P. J. Hayselden, representing the Angeles Forest Protective association, met with much opposition on the part of merchants who claimed they would suffer losses from firecracker stocks now on hand or ordered. As first introduced, the ordinance would have gone into effect June 5 if it had been adopted without amendment.

The Glendale Merchants' association presented a resolution to the council last Thursday, urging that the measure, if adopted, be delayed until after merchants had placed their present stocks for Fourth of July business.

On Water Board
Upon the recommendation of City Manager V. B. Stone, Councilman W. F. Tower was appointed to succeed S. A. Davis as director of the Verdugo Canyon Water Co., representing the city.

Mrs. L. C. Rice, owner of valuable property at Central avenue and Los Feliz road, entered a strong protest before the council this morning on the assessment against her lots for the improvement of Central avenue. The total assessment, she declared, would be approximately $5000. At her request, the hearing on assessments was continued until Thursday.

Issuance of bonds for installation of an ornamental lighting system on Glendale avenue was ordered by the council.

FOREST HOME SCENE OF TWO-DAY EVENT

Thirty Automobiles In Caravan Which Started at Noon Today; Officers Of Association To Be Chosen

By MERRILL D. DAVIS
Of The Evening News Staff
Despite the cloudy weather and indications that there would be rain, there will be no "jinx" on the fourth annual "Hi Jinks" of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association to be held at Forest Home, high in the mountains above Redlands, today and tomorrow.

Assurances that the "Jinks" in the form of rain would not interfere with the success of the annual convale of Glendale automobile men, were given when, "Bill" Tanner announced that he had it all framed with the weather man to hold off until at least Wednesday night, when everyone will have returned home.

Promptly at 12:30 o'clock today noon, approximately thirty automobiles, representing practically every make of car sold in Glendale, and loaded with the dealers and their friends left from the corner of Orange and Harvard streets for Forest Home.

Picture Taken
Just before the start, cars and dealers were lined up by Glenn Dolberg for a photograph. Each dealer or guest was properly labeled with his little blue tag which indicated that he was one of the aristocracy of good fellows, and that he was at least, "A Knight for a Day."

Since the inception of the automobile dealer's get-together outings four years ago, each succeeding year has found the members of the association more eager for the big event. Each year the attendance and membership of the association has been a little larger, with the result that this year's program bids fair to surpass anything yet accomplished in the line of a real get-together meeting that fosters the spirit of fair and square dealing not only with the public but among the dealers themselves.

C. H. Hunter, W. A. Tanner and Don H. Packer were members of the committee on arrangements. The program of entertainment which they have lined up for their fellow-dealers and their guests looks more like an "Elsteddfof" confined, however, to athletic events. Perhaps a Southern California track meet, would be more fitting, but, be that as it may, prizes are to be awarded for tennis, indoor baseball, fishing, swimming, running, jumping and horse-shoe throwing.

Will Elect Officers
The meeting, however, is not to be all fun as several serious matters are to come up for the consideration of the association. Most important, is the election of a new board of directors for the ensuing year. The board, after its election, will in turn elect a president and vice-president from the directorate. Other issues pertaining to the used car problem, and

BANDIT CAPTURED
DURHAM, Cal., May 5.—A lone bandit walked into the Bank of Durham here, ordered the cashier and a stenographer into a vault and scooped up $800 from the counter, only to be captured half an hour later by officers who responded to a burglar alarm set off by the cashier from the bank's vault. The robber refused to reveal his identity. Officers declared the man was an ex-convict from Washington state penitentiary.

Safety for things you hold dear

Stocks and bonds are not the only things that call for the sure protection of a safety deposit box.

You have other possessions—heirlooms and priceless tokens—the loss of which would cut deeper, perhaps, than the loss of replaceable securities.

Think what it would mean to you if these treasures were destroyed by fire or stolen by thieves.

Do not run the risk of such a misfortune a single day longer. Rent a box in our fire and burglar-proof vault now. Then, whatever happens, you will know that its contents are safe.

THE MAN WHO IS NOT—

Willing to take a joke ought never to perpetrate one.
Ambitious to be a splendid father makes a poor citizen.
Courteous in his own home will soon forget himself in public.
Tolerant of his neighbor's faults seldom has fast friends.
Generous misses all the richest joys of living.
Industrious will never be permanently successful in any line.

JUSTICE VERSUS MIGHT

There is more than a ray of hope, to be seen in the proposed codification of international law for the Americas which would substitute "right" for "might" in the new world.

The project consists of a preamble and a single article. It presupposes a desire on the part of twenty-one republics to preserve the peace and prosperity of the continent, not of any one of them, but of all of them. To secure peace and prosperity, the mutual relations of the American republics are to be based upon principles of "justice and respect" for the rules of law in which justice is expressed. "Desire," "justice" and "law" are the general prerequisites, but there are two specific ones: That we begin without criticising the actions of any republic in the past and without referring to any existing controversy. The project looks to the future. It neither requires nor invites a confession of guilt; it would forget the past entirely.

No affirmative or collective action is required. Each republic is asked to renounce for itself action which leads to acquisition of property by "means of war or under the menace of war or of presence of an armed force, to the detriment of any American republic." The final action is also negative, asking each republic not to recognize title to property acquired to the detriment of an American republic by force or threat of force.

It is provided that in case of action against an American republic affecting continental solidarity "any American republic may address the Pan-American union with the object of bringing about an exchange of views on the subject." There is no permanent guarantee of material security expressed in terms of armies, navies and economic pressure; the only permanent guarantee is justice expressed in terms of law. If the American republics can save themselves by this method their example may save Europe.

AMERICANITIS KILLS MANY

To observers it must seem that the motto of America is, "A short life and a busy one," not an unattractive picture, for life is short at best and there is no satisfaction in idleness. But we have no more right to shorten our lives by failing to conserve our power and energy than we have to deliberately put an end to them.

Americans have energy and ambition, we are noted for hustle and pep, but when it comes to conserving ourselves with proper rest and recreation we fall down. We do not know how. Dr. William S. Sadler, a nationally known physician, says that "Americanitis" is causing 240,000 preventable deaths in the United States every year. "Americanitis" is his name for a group of conditions that are due to the incessant drive of the American temperament. A man jumps into the business game or into any work and he lashes himself or is lashed by others or by conditions to keep up the pace that kills. Most Americans would profit by a change in living conditions—a change that would rest their bodies and their minds and calm their nerves.

But there is always a chance for argument when methods for the efficient conservation and employment of the human machine are being discussed. Chauncey Depew, who was noted as a late "diner," still enjoys life at the age of 91, while Walter Camp, author of the "Daily Dozen," passed away at 66. Many believe that the spirit, determination and purpose of a man have as much to do with the length of his life as the rest and exercise that he takes. A useful, efficient life, though short, is better than a long and purposeless one.

NATIONS RESPECT US

We hear a great deal about America and Americans being disliked in foreign countries. Europe does not like to hear that we won the war or helped to win it or that we would like to have our debts paid. We are money-grabbers and dollar-worshippers. We are new and raw and crude and have not artistic or literary sense. And yet this country and this people have the respect and confidence of the rest of the world to a greater extent than any other nation that ever existed since time began. The nations of Europe may unite to malign us, but they do not fear and distrust us as they do each other.

We have demonstrated our national integrity throughout our national life and shown that we wish to live in harmony with the rest of the world. Dr. Bayard Dodge, president of the American university in Beirut, Syria, says of the United States and Syria:

"Instead of being looked upon as enemies and as exploiters of the country's resources we are regarded as friends. Consequently when the people desire to have their oil resources developed or their roads built or their mineral resources utilized they call upon America."

WE ENVY INDIANA

With our highway construction program in arrears and the problem of financing new roads and maintaining those already built an ever-present one, California must envy Indiana, who boasts that she has a proper system of roadmaking and upkeep. The state highway commission has planned its work ahead and has contracted for work at figures lower than engineers' estimates. It is operating on a cash basis without bond issues. Other states have made heavy bond issues on which interest is paid while Indiana has cash in bank and is drawing interest on its road funds pending the time when they will be put to use.

Indiana does not tell how she does it, but perhaps this statement from the Indianapolis News may be a clue: "Left undisturbed by politics, the state will, within a few years, complete an unsurpassed system of highways reaching to every quarter of the state and adding enormously to the value of farm lands."

A radical complains that the supreme court has too much authority. Well, somebody in America ought to have a little authority.

If you can't get away for a vacation you can get the same feeling by remaining at home and tipping every third person you see.

With some people religion is merely a kind of rabbit's foot to keep away bad luck.

Familiarity is offensive or flattering, depending on the standing of the man who acts that way.

THE OWL ON THE CHARIOT WHEEL!

The Easiest Way

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Force is the easiest way.

Every once in awhile we hear a statement of parents that it is much simpler to flog children than to use moral suasion.

If one has superior force, the simplest method is to exert it in order to accomplish his object.

The same is true of nations. There are some who cannot get over what seems to them to be an indubitable fact that the nation's safety depends upon its power to use force.

History shows us, however, that this is a delusion.

In other words there are greater forces in the world than mere physical predominance. In the long run right and justice have their way in spite of the trained battalions and elaborate tyrannies formed to overcome them.

In the home it may be used to flog children. It may be easy to rule by fear. But when you have punished a child you have demonstrated one thing—that you are a stronger man than he. His spirit remains rebellious. You have made an enemy of him and you arouse all his cunning in order to overcome you or evade you.

If on the contrary you control him by moral suasion by suggesting an example, you have secured his enthusiastic co-operation; you have allied yourself to what is best in him.

This is hard because the right training of children implies that we should be right ourselves.

No man who gives way constantly to a hasty temper can hope to overcome bad temper among his children. Only by self-control ourselves can we hope to inculcate self-control among children.

Their eyes are very sharp and see past our words and teachings to our deeds. It is difficult to deceive a child.

When we do so we have aroused the spirit of deception in him. We need not be surprised if our children lie to us if we lie to them. If we are honest and frank with them, they will be honest and frank in all their dealings with their fellowmen.

It is much easier to do as we please and seek to enforce righteousness by physical punishment. But if we think that we are training children in this fashion, we deceive ourselves.

To them, as well as to other people, what we are shrieks so loudly that they cannot hear what we say.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

What do parents owe their children?
A sound mind in a sound body.
This is all.

He that has these two, has little more to wish for; and he that wants either of them, will be but little the better for anything else.

John Locke observed that men's happiness or misery is in most part of their own making—"he, whose mind directs not wisely, will never take the right way; and he, whose body is crazy and feeble, will never be able to advance in it."

"I confess," he wrote, "there are some men's constitutions of body and mind so vigorous, and well framed by nature that they need not much assistance from others; but by the strength of their natural genius, they are from their cradles carried towards what is excellent; and by the privilege of their happy constitutions, are able to do wonders."

"But examples of this kind are but few; and I think I may say, that of all men we meet with, nine parts of them are what they are, good or evil, useful or not, by their education."

We repeat this in the seventeenth century. In the light of our increased knowledge of men's minds and inner natures, we disagree with him today concerning the relative importance of heredity and education, but the latter still is the greatest single factor in man's existence once he is born.

Education is not all a matter of books. The parent's duty is not done when he sends his child to school regularly.

To his child is simple—a sound mind in a sound body; but this end is not to be gained entirely in the schoolhouse. The parent must accomplish the biggest part of the task.

The parent must always keep in mind that the little, or almost insensible impressions on our tender infancies, have important and lasting consequences; and there it is, as in the fountains of some rivers, where a gentle application of the hand turns the flexible waters in channels, that make them take quite ordinary courses; and by this direction given them first in the source, and receive different tendencies, and arrive at last at very remote and distant places.

Timely Views

Although Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, has passed the age of three score and ten and must therefore be classed among the elder statesmen of the republic, he does not hesitate to call upon youth for advice and counsel when youth presents itself clothed with knowledge and ability to serve.

Secretary Mellon was largely responsible for the selection of S. Parker Gilbert of New York as the agent general in the administration of the Dawes plan. Gilbert is 31 years of age and was an assistant secretary of the treasury when chosen for the Berlin assignment. More recently Gilbert turned to a young man of 25 when he was called upon to fill the vacancy in the office of the solicitor of the internal revenue bureau. This important post was given to Alexander White Gregg, a native of Palestine, Tex., but a product of Washington high schools, which he attended while his father was a member of congress from the Lone Star state.

Secretary Mellon regards young Gregg as a wizard in the field of taxation, both in his grasp of the science and in his ability to give a practical application. Mellon formulated the principles of what is known as the "Mellon plan" proposed to the last Congress; but Gregg is the man who reduced it to writing. Gregg explained the plan to the committee of Congress having jurisdiction, and he told just what it would do operating as a law.

As solicitor of the internal revenue bureau Gregg will have important work to do. To him will be assigned the government's side of the case in the controversy that has been precipitated over the treasury ruling requiring Senator Couzens of Michigan to pay $10,000, or so in back taxes covering the sale of his transaction, and is understood to have written some of the letters bearing the signature of Mellon in the now famous epistolary battle between the secretary and Senator Couzens.

Neither Gregg's age nor his politics has barred him from advancement in the treasury. He is a Democrat, but Secretary Mellon did not regard this as a defect when his attention was first directed to the young man from Texas. Five years ago he entered the treasury at the age of 20. He was assigned to the internal revenue bureau, and from the very beginning became absorbed in questions affecting taxation. His work attracted the notice of his superiors, and in December, 1923, he was appointed special assistant to the secretary of the treasury to

EDUCATION BOARD TO OUTLINE DRIVE

Members Call Meet Tonight
To Plan School Bond
Election Campaign

With fourteen members who have agreed to serve on a special committee of fifteen, the Board of Education will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at their offices, 117 1/2 South Brand boulevard to lay tentative plans for the launching of a campaign preliminary to an election to vote on the proposed issuance of $1,200,000 or more in bonds for elementary school purposes.

The fifteen members of the committee will be selected at tonight's session. The fourteen who will meet with the board are: Peter Ferry, L. H. Wilson, Herman Nelson, Paul Stillman, M. Walters, Bert Woodard, W. E. Hewitt, Alex Mitchell, S. C. Packer, H. V. Adams, C. L. Jenkins, William Baker, C. S. Dunning and L. H. Myers.

Date for the proposed election has not been definitely set. A resolution favoring calling of the election, passed at a recent meeting of representatives of all civic and service organizations of Glendale, requires a report on the project from the committee of fifteen to the board on or before next Friday. It has been intimated, however, that the election will be held in conjunction with a special election to vote on $150,000 memorial hall bonds to be held June 16.

Europe Given Warning In Houghton's Speech

States has now told Europe that the American people are willing to invest their money in Europe's future, but are not willing to let wild-cat stock and speculate on it. As interpreted here, Ambassador Houghton's speech amounted to this:

- 1—A direct warning to Europe that there will be no American loans abroad unless Europe ceases bickering and gets to work.
- 2—A more direct but nevertheless significant warning to France and her continental allies not to seize upon von Hindenburg's election as an excuse to "pick on" Germany.
- 3—A thinly veiled admonition that she had better abandon her stubborn opposition to a new arms conference, such as President Coolidge is willing to call, and go along with the rest of the world toward reduced armaments and lesser military expenditures.
- 4—A notice to Europe and particularly France that America expects a businesslike adjustment of her debts to the United States.

C. J. Hatz Is Named For City Councilman

having been re-elected to office in January. Under his leadership the association has shown a remarkable growth from a small group of business men to a membership at the present time of 218. Hatz will be appointed by Mayor

H. G. MacBain as chairman of the committee on public safety, in charge of both the police and fire departments. As head of public safety, Hatz will be in a peculiarly fitting position, in the opinion of city officials, because of his past activity and co-operation with the police department through the Merchants' association in apprehending criminals who in the past have preyed on local business men. He has also taken an active interest in Glendale fire protection. Both Chief of Police John D. Fraser and Fire Chief A. H. Lankford indicated their appreciation of Hatz' appointment.

'Serious Doubt'
Morrow's opinion on Muhleman's eligibility follows:

"In answer to your request for information as to whether or not Frank L. Muhleman is at this time eligible for appointment on the City Council, I desire to advise you that I have studied this question very carefully and have also considered the various opinions that have been advanced. My conclusion is that there is a serious doubt as to Mr. Muhleman's eligibility for appointment at this time."

Hatz is a prominent Mason. He has no children. He and his wife reside at 702 North Central avenue.

His appointment followed a long executive session of the other four councilmen that lasted well into last night. Hatz was called from his bed after 11 o'clock last night and asked if he would accept the place.

Comes As Surprise
"This has come so sudden that as yet I have formulated no policy," said the new councilman today. "I will give the city of Glendale the best that is in me, all the time. I have been an advocate of getting business men into the business of running the city, but I never thought of myself in the capacity. Now that I am here, however, I will do my best to do my part toward running the city's business as I would operate my own."

The news that Hatz had been appointed to the City Council rapidly spread throughout the business district and the action met with general approval. Hatz will hold office until the next municipal election to be held in April, 1927. At that time the terms of three councilmen will expire, those of Hatz, Kinch and Kimlin. MacBain and Tower hold office for four years.

Chamber Waits Bridge Decision From County

A decision by the Board of Supervisors on whether county funds will be available for new bridges at Glendale boulevard and Fletcher drive was expected some time tonight, following a telephone conversation between Chamber of Commerce officials of Glendale and members of the Board of Supervisors this morning. A final decision in the matter was promised for today when fifty representatives of cities of the county made a second appeal for $500,000 for the bridges at the board session yesterday morning.

"We are not yet sure of the money, although every indication is that the funds will be appropriated," Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce said. "We have been promised a definite answer tonight."

OIL SILK SLICKER WOMEN'S CHOICE

Oilskin Riding Breeches Are Fashioned in Entirely
Distinct Models

By AILEEN LAMONT

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925. NEW YORK, May 5.—It will matter little to the feminine followers of the sport kings whether or not it rains during the Jamaica and Belmont Park meetings. If it rains, they, like the jockeys, will wear "wet weather tack". In the case of the latter, rainy day tack or tackle, consists of oilskin riding breeches buttoned over instead of inside the boot tops. The women will compromise on oil silk slickers tightly buttoned at wrist and collar and soft felt, waterproofed English sport suits. One of the most sought after styles of the moment is the beltless crepe de chine gown, trimmed simply with two rows of bead fringe the coloring of which matches or contrasts with the material. In nearly every instance a scarf of the same material as the gown is worn. The scarfs also are bordered with the same colored beads as trim the dress.

Chic In Hen Feathers
A striking coat seen on Park Avenue today was made of a tobacco brown silk and wool material with a high close collar formed of beige colored hen feathers. At either hip was a huge medallion of hens' feathers. The sleeves were slashed and flared from elbow to wrist and each bore a similar feather medallion of smaller size.

Nothing could indicate more strikingly how firm is the hold of printed fabrics on fashion at present than the fact some of the most charming new underthings are of printed lawn. The backgrounds are white, ivory, or faint pink, while the printed designs are of every imaginable hue and size.

Entertainment features of the program will be under the direction of Mrs. W. C. Wattles.

DIRECT ACTION GAS RANGES

THE unusual oven capacity is due to the "Elastic Oven" which can be enlarged fifty percent by simply raising the broiler bottom. The marvelous baking qualities of this oven make the Direct Action Gas Range the ideal cook stove for any household.

The Direct Action Oven is economical of fuel. The oven burners are directly in the oven and the heat acts directly on the baking. The oven is always ready—place your baking in the oven and light the fire—no pre-heating is necessary.

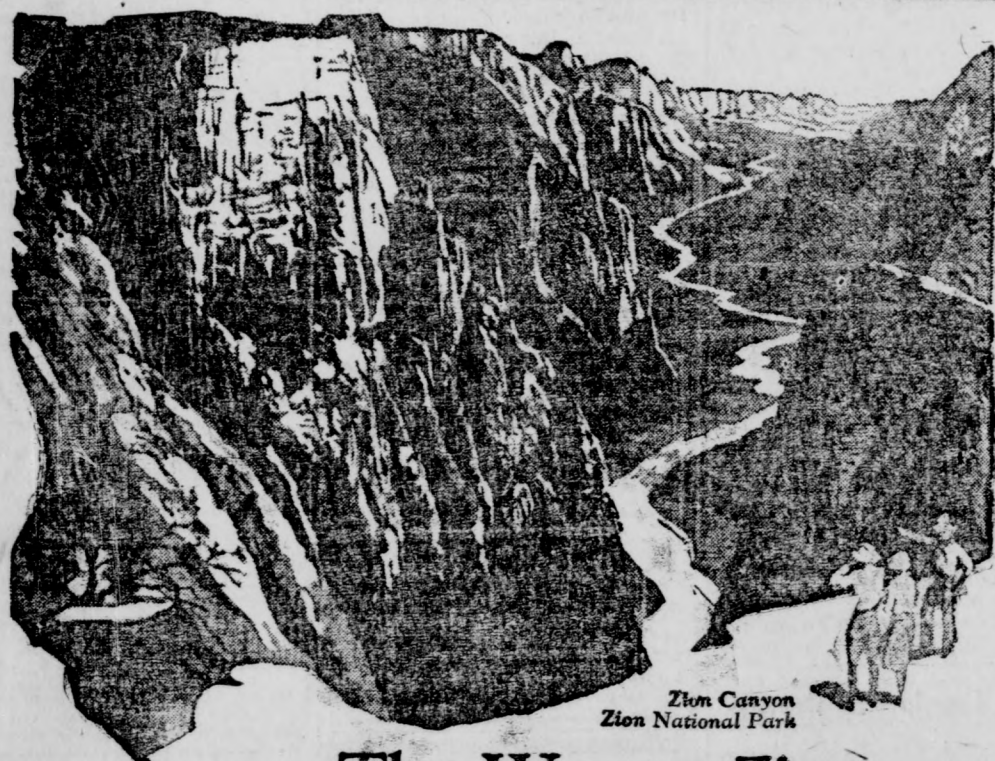

The lower oven rack is flush with the opened oven door, forming a continuous shelf, so that a heavy roaster or juicy pies can be pulled out without lifting.

TOKIO, May 5.—It was 1969 years ago that a jealous Brutus planned a dagger in the heart of Julius Caesar and ended the life of the great Roman dictator. Nearly twenty centuries have elapsed since Marcus Antonius told the throng that packed the stony forum that he "came to bury Caesar, not to praise him."

It is a far cry from the forum of ancient Rome to the theatre of modern Tokyo. There is a mighty gap to be bridged, not alone the gap of centuries but the gap of language, customs, historical traditions, and the different phases of cultural civilization.

But that gap has been successfully bridged and the drama of the life of Julius Caesar, as portrayed by the immortal genius Shakespeare, has been successfully produced upon the stage of a Japanese theatre. The play, translated and adapted into the Japanese, recently ran for several weeks at the Kabuki-za, one of the leading playhouses of the Japanese capital.

Barring those small discrepancies that are the necessary product of vastly differing conditions, the play, as produced here, was a faithful adaptation of Shakespeare's drama. The stage settings and costumes particularly were accurate as to character and detail, giving evidence of much painstaking study on the part of the producers.

Throughout the run of the play the theatre was packed at each performance with Japanese eager to witness one of the most famous theatrical spectacles of the Occidental stage. Members of the foreign colony in Tokyo also were frequent spectators.

The production of Julius Caesar in Japanese was the result of years of study and toil on the part of Shō-o Matsui, dramatist and stage-director, and Dr. Tsubouchi, Japan's foremost student of Shakespeare. The translation of the play was the work of Dr. Tsubouchi while the staging was the contribution of Matsui.

Matsui began preparations for producing "Julius Caesar" in Japan twenty years ago. He first went to Europe, where he saw leading English and French actors in the performance of the various roles. He also went to Rome and spent many months studying at first hand the surroundings in which the settings of the play were laid.

Returning to Japan, Matsui began the assembling and training of a troupe of Japanese actors. The part of Caesar was assigned to Koshiro Matsumoto, one of the greatest living Japanese actors. Sadanji, another famous actor at Nippon, was assigned to the role of Marcus Antonius. Sadanji himself made a special trip to Italy to perfect himself in his part.

The production of "Julius Caesar" here was made the occasion for a unique memorial service to the "noblest Roman." It was on the "Ides of March" that Brutus' dagger laid the mighty Caesar low, so, on the "Ides of March" the Japanese cast of the play, in collaboration with officials of the Italian embassy in Tokyo, held a brief memorial service between the acts at the Kabuki-za Theatre.

In the dressing room of Koshiro, who played the part of Caesar, an altar was erected. Incense burned on a low, bamboo table before the altar. On the table also were trays containing fruit and sweetmeats and baskets of flowers. Across the altar was draped a green rug, and in the exact center was a silver wreath of laurel, behind which a silken-covered pedestal bore a marble bust of Caesar. Bits of stone from the ruins of ancient Rome and other souvenirs of the Eternal City decorated other portions of the altar.

After the first act of the play members of the cast and officials of the Italian embassy assembled in the dressing room and paid tribute to the memory of Caesar. A short address was made by the Italian Charge d'Affaires and another by Koshiro.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, May 5.—The street and highway committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been authorized to confer with Southern Pacific officials on a proposed separation of grade crossing by construction of a subway beneath the Southern Pacific tracks at Burbank boulevard, formerly Central avenue. The railroad company has asked that the city pay half the cost, according to City Engineer Roscoe.

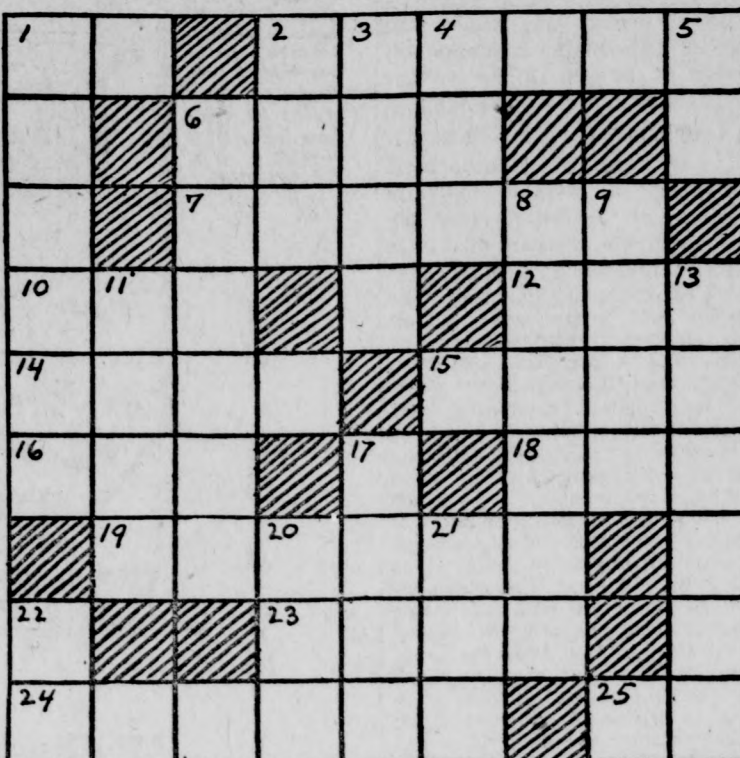

Burbank grove of Druids has increased its membership to 250 and will shortly receive a flag to be awarded by A. H. Williams, noble grand arch, San Francisco. The Burbank Chamber of Commerce favors keeping the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley as a distinct unit apart from the Greater San Fernando Valley association on the theory that there is need in the valley for each organization. A resolution to this effect has been adopted by the chamber.

Mrs. Faith Sense Story of Burbank has been elected state president of the P. E. O. She has been prominent in state work of the organization for several years, and last year served as vice-president.

Publicity Turned on Offenders at Customs

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The spotlight of publicity has been turned on offenders against the customs laws of the United States when Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews removed the barrier which has for years restrained customs officers from making public details of operations against smugglers. The treasury believes the new order will tend to break up the petty smuggling practiced by tourists who attempt to avoid payment of customs duties by concealing articles they bring in from abroad.

UNCLE WIGGILY

"UNCLE WIGGILY'S RED VEST"
One day Uncle Wiggily's new wife said to him:
"Wiggily, please go down to the eight and nine cent store and buy yourself a new vest. Your old one is very shabby."

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed the bunny gentleman, with a sad twinkle of his pink nose. "My old vest is good enough to wear when I go after adventure. Isn't it, Nurse Jane?" he asked the kind old muskrat lady housekeeper, who still lived with him, though he had married a widow rabbit, with many little children bunnies.

"Well, Uncle Wiggily," spoke Nurse Jane, "you know I was always pestering you, trying to get you to buy a new vest, but I couldn't make you do it. I hope your wife will have better luck." "But why should I get a new vest?" asked the bunny uncle. "Because you and Nurse Jane and I are going calling on Aunt Lettie, the lady goat, this evening," said Mrs. Longears. "I want you to look stylish with a new vest."

"Oh, all right—I'll get one," Uncle Wiggily finally agreed. "And buy one with bright colors in it—make it snappy," said

Mrs. Longears, "though I hope you will pardon me for using that little bit of slang," she went on. "But I really want you to have a vest that will be very sporty-like."

"It shall be done," said Uncle Wiggily in a resigned and patient voice. Then he hopped off over the fields and through the woods, his new wife and Nurse Jane telling him not to dare come home if he didn't bring a new, bright vest with him.

Uncle Wiggily really meant to go to the eight and nine cent store to buy himself a new vest. But while he was going through the woods he heard a sad voice crying:

"Help! Help! Oh, I wish someone would help me!" "I will gladly help you if you aren't the Woozie Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox," said the bunny gentleman. Then, looking in a tree nearby, he saw where a robin bird had caught one leg in a crack of the bark and couldn't get loose. It did not take Uncle Wiggily long to break away the bark and set the robin free. A way flew the bird with his joyous "cheer-up!" song, and he called back to the bunny:

"Let me know when you are in trouble and I will help you if I can."

"Thank you," answered Uncle Wiggily. Then he hopped on, and by this time he had forgotten all about going to the eight and nine cent store to buy himself a snappy sporty vest.

"That wasn't much of an adventure," said the bunny gentleman, as he watched the robin fly away. "I must have another." And just then he heard a great crashing, crackling sound in the bushes. "That must be the Skillery Scallery Alligator coming to get me," said the bunny.

"Oh, he ran as fast as he could, hearing a voice cry: 'Stop! Stop! Wait for me.'"

"No indeed, Mr. Alligator. I'm not going to wait for you," said the bunny. And then he heard a grunting laugh and the voice went on:

"I'm not the Alligator. I'm Mr. Twisttail, the pig gentleman. And so it was. He was so large that he made a great deal of noise walking through the woods. Well, of course, Uncle Wiggily stopped, for he and Mr. Twisttail were great friends. They sat down under a shady tree and talked until, noticing that the sun was going down, Uncle Wiggily suddenly jumped up and cried:

"Oh, it is getting quite late! I didn't buy me a new vest. What shall I do? My wife and Nurse Jane will be angry. I don't dare go home without a new vest and all the stores are now closed. Oh, dear."

"Don't worry, Uncle Wiggily. We'll make a vest for you," cried a voice, and there was the robin bird the bunny had helped and with him were a hundred other robin friends. "We will each give you a red feather from our breasts," said the first robin, "and we will weave them into a vest for you."

So the robins took red feathers from their breasts and made a scarlet vest for the bunny. And when he wore it home Nurse Jane said it was sporty, and Mrs. Longears said it was snappy. Uncle Wiggily laughed, and not until he read this story in the paper will the animal ladies know how the bunny got his new vest. And if the sugar bowl doesn't jump down in the salt cellar to find where the light goes when it goes out, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's cake.

Pupils Denied Diploma Account Nude Picture

JEFFERSON, Ind., May 5.—Three hundred and fifty grade school graduates will not get their diplomas at the commencement exercises this week because the certificates were embellished with a nude picture. "Art in the nude shall not use the public schools as an excuse to get into the homes of Clark county," declared Samuel Scott, superintendent of schools, in returning the diplomas today to a Terre Haute engraver with orders to clothe the decorative figures.

HEADACHES (Part 2)

Headaches are warnings in the vast majority of cases of some disturbance elsewhere in the brain. There is some poisoning going on which either irritates the nerves of the head directly or indirectly by cause a congestion of the blood vessels so that there is a pressure on them. It is in the nerves in the covering of the brain (meninges) that the pain of headaches manifests itself, and not in the brain itself, for the brain tissue is not sensible to pain, it is believed.

Headache is the most universal ache. There is probably no one who has not experienced it at some time in his life. Those who are subject only to occasional headaches usually can trace the cause themselves—prolonged breathing of bad air, especially in hot rooms, overeating, overdrinking, underdrinking, especially skipping a meal, lack of sleep, excess smoking, etc.

Those who suffer habitually from headaches, without other obvious disorders, such as gout, rheumatism, kidney disease, high blood pressure, or other diseases, are the ones we want to help today. And the chief thing that I can do to help you is to point out the causes. Then you should have a thorough physical examination to see which one is operating in your case.

In yesterday's paper, I told you of attending a symposium on Headaches, at the New York Academy of Medicine, and I gave you what the eye and nose specialists said about the headaches that are caused by eye strain and infections of the nose. The chief points to remember are that very slight eye strains which give no symptoms at all in the eyes may be causes of habitual headaches. Naturally these headaches will not cease until the conditions causing them are remedied.

I'll give you a summary of the causes of habitual or more or less constant headaches:

1. Headache due to eye strain.

2. Reflex headache from abnormal conditions in the intestinal tract—chronic appendicitis, chronic constipation, etc.

3. Headache due to toxic states accompanying any disease, acute or chronic.

4. Headache due to some abnormal condition in the pelvis. (Women suffer most from these.)

5. Nervous headache due to lowered nerve tone or to any mental upset.

6. Headache due to local infections, especially in the nose, tonsils, teeth, suppurating ears, etc.

7. Headache due to overindulgence in tea and coffee, tobacco and other habit-forming drugs.

8. Headache due to habitual overeating or under-eating, or unbalanced diet.

9. Migraine—possibly hereditary tendency.

WARNING! Don't take any powders habitually for headaches. They are dangerous because they are all heart depressants. Deaths have resulted from overdoses. Find out the cause of your headache and have that remedied.

Next week I'll discuss Migraine or "sick headache."

The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in advance. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible. If they are of general interest, I will not use them in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to answer each individual letter. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible. Mrs. J. H. C.: "Please tell me how I can remove mildew from white linen."

Answer: Mildew is a mould. If it has not been allowed to remain in the material too long, its growth may be stopped by being covered with a paste made of equal parts of powdered chalk and soap, with a few drops of lemon juice added, and then placed in strong sunshine. Remoistened the mildewed part of the material with this paste as often as it dries, till the mould disappears. It may be necessary, however, to use the following method: Stir two teaspoonfuls of chloride of lime into a pint of cold water in an earthen dish, allow it to settle, then pour off the clear portion; add a few drops of vinegar, and immerse the mildewed portion of the linen in this for 30 minutes; transfer the material to a solution of one ounce of hyposulphite of soda to a gallon of water to check the action of the lime, and rinse in clear water.

Yonibul Matron: "I have some pine needles and wish to know whether it is necessary to put anything with them in order to make a good pine pillow? Also are two coverings necessary? And is there any conventional size for this kind of pillow?"

Answer: Do not put anything with the needles. I, personally, like two coverings—one of white muslin and the upper one of China silk. But many women prefer just one cover of heavy cretonne or crash. No, there is no regulation size, but when I make one I generally make it oblong—12 inches long by seven inches wide.

C. H.: "Is there anything that can be put on an old brick chimney, in a room, which will keep the dampness from striking through the wall paper? I have tried several coats of paint, but that has no effect."

Answer: I know of nothing to recommend except a waterproof paint. But perhaps some Reader Friend will have something really helpful to suggest, and will write it on a postal and mail it to me in care of this paper?

DOROTHY JARDON
ORPHEUM'S STAR

American Prima Donna in Both Jazz and Classical
Musical Numbers

Folks, get on your glad rags and trot down to the Orpheum this week if you want to see one of the most entertaining shows seen there in many months.

Bringing not only a lovely voice but a most charming personality is Dorothy Jardon, our own American "Carmen." She has made a most delightful selection of songs which to show her versatility in singing not only grand opera but popular music as well. Her last number, interpretation of jazz singing made a tremendous hit and it is a shame that other grand opera singers cannot be as broad-minded and have a sense of humor which is a distinct credit to Miss Jardon. Her act is enhanced by the presence of Jerry Jarnigan at the piano.

As for bringing down the house, Bert Yorke and Ed Lord succeeded in doing just that. They kept the spirit of laugh in all the customers. They are the original "nuts" and lived up to that title.

Humorous Sketch
Robert Emmett Keane and Claire Whitney, former movie star, offer a clever and humorous sketch called "Room 909." It is a take-off on the undertaker and the house was in an uproar from the first line to the last.

Glenn and Jenkins are two dark shadows "working for the railroad" and while cleaning up the station they do some nifty footwork and chatter with a good deal of wit.

Elsie Clark sings those "sweet Papa" songs with lots of pep; Bronson and Edwards open the show with a slapstick act called "Nonsensical Absurdities"; while Elizabeth Brice holds the people to their seats with the aid of Frank Kessler and his band until the final curtain.

The Mosconi brothers with sister Verna, are held over a second week with their flashy dancing.

News want ads bring results.

DERBY WINNER IS UNKNOWN FACTOR

Mark Master May Be Unable To Start; Quatrain Is Picked By Many

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
For International News Service
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5.—Mark Master, H. G. Shimp's international stable eligible for the Kentucky derby, looks to be definitely out of it. Here is another Chicago-owned horse that when the great race is run will probably be running on hard luck in his stable, like Marshall Field's Stimulus and William Daniels' Master Charlie.

Mark Master went wrong in his work and Trainer George Walker has let up on him in preparation for the derby. Not for several days, perhaps, will the extent of his injuries be known. Quatrain is still the derby choice down here, but Frank Croissant's Kentucky Cardinal, since arriving on the ground, has begun to rival Quatrain as a recipient of words of commendation in general discussion of the race. Meanwhile, silent turf followers, who will not debate publicly, have their heads despairingly concerning both of the most-talked-of candidates and hint that this year the winner will be a long shot.

Twenty May Start
Quatrain was not given the stiff workout yesterday that was expected and he did little more than gallop and then break for a fast quarter. The culminating workout of his training will not take place, it is said, until Saturday. Then, as an additional attraction for the opening day of the Churchill Downs meeting, he will be sent the full derby route of a mile and a quarter between races.

If that program is carried out his showing will definitely settle whether or not he will go to the post as the favorite a week later. At the present time a tentative field of twenty starters may be named for the derby. The horses that appear to be most likely to go to the post are Quatrain, Kentucky Cardinal, Chief Uncas, Captain Hall, Almadel, Chantey, Backbone, Lee O. Cotner, King Nadi, Stirrup Cup, Our General, Singlefoot, Stepalong, Sumpter, Prince of Bourbon, Supremas, Bill Strap, Annihilator, Son of John and Sir Peter.

Golden Jubilee To Be Celebrated On Friday

The golden jubilee of the National league will be officially celebrated by the Braves and the Chicago Cubs, the only charter members of organized baseball. These two teams were in the original league in 1875, and remained through all the years.

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Mickey Walker, who has been in training here for his fight with Lefty Cooper in San Francisco, on May 16, will leave here tonight for the Bay city. Jack Kearns, the welter king's new manager, was undecided today whether or not he would accompany Walker on his trip north tonight.

NEW YORK, May 5.—If Owen Carroll, that most remarkable young pitcher of Holy Cross, plays professional baseball, it will be with the Detroit Americans—and the Detroit management has every expectation that Carroll will report for work after his graduation in June.

For two years now, Carroll has been on the reserve list of the Detroit club. That is official. He signed with the owners of that club when he was not as good a pitcher as he is now, although he gave promise then of becoming a great pitcher.

Recently it was reported that Carroll had applied to Baseball Commissioner Landis to be relieved of the agreement he had entered into with Detroit. He also had been reported that Carroll would not play professional ball when he finished college, but would go to some team in New England which has nothing to do with professional ball.

But the general opinion among baseball men is that Commissioner Landis would not grant such a request as Carroll was reported to have made and the Detroit management is confident Carroll will not decide to forego the call of the big leagues altogether.

Carroll has no disagreement of any sort with the Detroit management so far as is known and the Tigers expect to see the young college star pitching his head off in a Tiger uniform before the Fourth of July milestone of the second year has been passed.

It is a long time they have waited for Carroll. Detroit may have thought the lure of professional baseball would coax the young pitcher into its ranks at once but he would not leave college until he had completed his work there.

Of course, the fact that Carroll has been on the reserve list of the major league club for two years brings up the point as to what amateur baseball means in college.

The laxity of the regulations governing college baseball and the wholly mistaken attitude as to so-called summer baseball, constitutes one of the worst evils that college baseball has to face. Moreover, it has had a bad influence over the amateur spirit in other college sports.

It has happened on more than one occasion that a college player, not wishing to jeopardize his standing on his school team, has entered a private agreement with a big league club to join it. It also has happened more than once that a player has sought to get out of that agreement later, when some other club came along and offered him more advantageous terms.

If there was no official registration of his intention to enter professional baseball, the club which was struck for a higher bonus or a release, frequently has had to concede something or lose the player.

Of course this situation didn't exist in Carroll's case. He tied himself up with the Tigers in a legal way and he couldn't get away from Detroit and stay in organized baseball without their consent, even if he wanted to.

Another college player, expected to report to the big leagues in June, is Farrell, the University of Pennsylvania. Carroll has been letting his college opponents down with about five hits per game and has batted remarkably well. There has been no college pitcher in years better prepared to enter the big leagues.

Clean Bill Is Given To Paavo Nurmi and Staff

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—Neither Paavo Nurmi nor any member of his party has violated any amateur ruling or done anything not entirely ethical, William Humphrey, president of the Olympic club here announced today, following an investigation of expense money received by Nurmi for his Pacific coast appearances. Money received by Nurmi and athletes appearing with him barely covered their expenses, Humphrey said.

SILVER-O'DONNELL FIGHT AT VERNON

Winner Of Tonight's Battle To Meet Ace Hudkins Two Weeks Later

The winner of tonight's battle at Vernon, when Jack Silver and Johnny O'Donnell will step ten rounds, or less, will have an opportunity to meet Ace Hudkins, Pacific coast lightweight champion, at Vernon on May 19. Hudkins annexed his title when he gave Joe Benjamin a beating that he will remember for some time, and Benjamin has stood away both Silver and O'Donnell.

There will be two ten-round battles tonight, Eddie Macy and Ernie Goozeman being billed to spill claret in the other event. Both are favorites at Vernon. Goozeman has recently returned from the east, where he made quite a reputation for himself.

Al Grunau and Johnny Young meet in a six-round bout, which will precede the double main event of the card. Eddie Hoppe, brother of Willie Hoppe, and Joe Garcia will open the show with four rounds of milling.

XVII—Milk Diet
All seekers of health are looking for a quick efficient method that will bring results. It can be said of the milk diet that it will do this in practically 99 per cent of human ailments.

The milk cure used straight and in combination with other natural foods is a remedy that has no equal, excepting possibly the complete fast, which requires a knowledge of the many crises that take place during the fasting period, which will alarm the patient and cause much worry to those around him. A fast should not be undertaken unless a person has studied some good book on the subject or put themselves in the care of a competent physician who understands fasting.

After a person has been on a milk diet long enough to bring the body up to normal, they will find it easy to eat natural foods in a natural state, without any feeling of discomfort that they will feel when they try to break from a cooked white bread, meat and potato diet, and start eating fresh fruits, vegetables, nuts etc.

It is much the same as a dope fiend or user of drugs trying to quit the habit, as most foods that are eaten today are stimulating and will leave their effects in the body for many days, until the natural foods, have driven out the poisons generated by the fermenting of refined foods. Fermentation is not digestion.

The first and most important thing to be remembered in following the milk diet is that milk absolutely requires to be thoroughly masticated, unless this is done properly the milk will lie in the stomach like so much lead and will ferment and retard digestion using up valuable energy.

To properly masticate milk it must be taken very slowly. It is best to use an ordinary teaspoon to take it with and keep it in the mouth until it is thoroughly mixed with saliva, which is a very powerful digestive element and necessary to help the gastric juices dissolve food, so that it may be assimilated into the blood stream to repair the body.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP BY FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
NEW YORK, May 5.—The click of the movie camera sounds sweet to the cauliflower ear. There is no doubt of that and boxers and managers in the Roaring Forties are wondering today what part the movies played in the partnership formed between Jack Kearns and welter champion Mickey Walker.

The announcement that Kearns would handle Mickey's business affairs in the future, came with a great deal of surprise to fightdom. Many promoters had sounded Mickey on the subject and were told no manager was needed or wanted. Joe Degnan, former boxing commissioner of New Jersey, has been acting as the champion's business adviser ever. Judging by the lucrative bouts Mickey has had in the last year, has been doing a fair job.

Fans here are wondering therefore whether Kearns has shown Mickey how he can make more in the movies than in the ring. Mickey is not likely to be absent from the squared circle long, however. He is a real fighter with a slashing, smashing attack and his friends believe that if he tries the movies he will soon tire of Hollywood life and surroundings.

Kearns will not be able to talk "half million dollar purses" with Walker as he did with Dempsey and it is not likely that he will get a fifty-fifty cut of the champion's end either. However, Kearns is reported to have paid an income tax of $91,000 last year and his new arrangement will not lessen it any.

There was an excellent gate at the Johnny Dundee-Sid Terris bout Saturday night, which was the last battle the historical Madison Square Garden ever will see. The fans went not particularly to see Dundee. The little Italian has shown them everything he has or will have in that same ring. They went to see how Terris shaped against a known proposition like Dundee. Now they can tell how he will size up against the other lightweight contenders.

Shakeup Of Yankees Looms As Games Lost

NEW YORK, May 5.—After losing five straight games and eleven out of fifteen since the start of the season, the New York Yankees today faced a general shakeup at the hands of their manager, Miller Huggins. It was reported that Huggins' first step in the tearing down of the former world's championship machine would be the replacement of Scott at shortstop by Paul Wanningger. Scott has taken part in more than 1300 consecutive games since 1916.

Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, May 5.—A field of about twenty is the prospect at present, for the fifty-first running of the Kentucky derby. That may be whittled down considerably before post time a week from next Saturday or what is more unlikely, the great classic may draw to the barrier from the 139 nominations for the race, several of which today seem certain not to start because they don't look to have the remotest outside chance.

FINAL FIGHT AT GARDEN TONIGHT

Johnny Dundee Will Battle Sid Terris As Requiem For Place Sounded

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
NEW YORK, May 5.—A requiem to the great moments of a dying past will be sounded at Madison Square Garden tonight, with a wholly appropriate obligato of thudding fists. The latter will be furnished at the usual rate of exchange by Johnny Dundee and Sid Terris, who will step twelve rounds or less in a fist fight, but that is a minor detail.

It matters not at all who plays the elegy when the funeral is over, Madison Square Garden, greatest monument to the progress of sport, is to pass under the wheels of progress, and after tonight only the ghosts of departed memories will stalk the ruins. Dead memories, perhaps, but their glamor will live always, though the art itself perish and the temple itself be destroyed.

It was in this temple, for example, that Charley Mitchell, the cocky Englishman, scored a knockdown over John L. Sullivan, only to have the police intervene to save the foreigner himself from a knockout in the eighth round; here it was that Dorando beat Hayes during the marathon epidemic of 1908; that Jim Driscoll neatly side-stepped and Abe Attell fell flat on his face; that Philadelphia Jack O'Brien lay grimacing, with his head in the rosin box, and the great Ketchell standing over him, when the bell rang ending the round and fight; it was here that Benny Leonard sat foolishly in the center of the ring and shook his head in a dazed way, just a few seconds short of losing his lightweight title to Richie Mitchell.

These are merely a few of the ghosts. The entire convention of Madison Square Garden's memories would fill every seat in the structure, just as they will be filled by the mourners tonight. Upward of 14,000 will attend the wake, and many an old-timer will know his moments of depression.

It was for the sake of the latter, more than for the gentleman's waning skill, that Johnny Dundee, himself an old-timer, was resurrected for the ceremony. John was a good fighter as far back as 1910, and he and the old guard have much in common.

Most of Dundee's winning fights, which are legion, were fought there, and today they owe each other nothing. If Dundee has done much for the garden, it, likewise, has been very kind to Dundee. Strangely enough, the two old relics come to an end together.

If Dundee is stopped by Terris—and plenty of money is saying that he will be—it is his last fight. He has slipped steadily down the ladder since winning the featherweight title from Eugene Crigui two years ago, and now, at the age of 32, with 600 fights behind him, is about ready to call it a career. Three years ago, such as Sid Terris would have had a white man's chance with him. Today it is difficult to see how Terris could lose.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—Sol Levinson, 51, merchant. A San Francisco physician wrote that today on a death certificate.

Levinson, caterer de luxe to pugilistic royalty, intimate of all the world's boxing champions, creator of leather masterpieces shielding hands worth more than all California's gold—Levinson has heard the ring gong's last staccato.

Levinson, merchant-glovemaker to their royal majesties—James J. Corbett, Joe Gans, Abe Attell, Jack Johnson, Battling Nelson, James J. Jeffries, Jess Willard, Benny Leonard, Georges Carpentier, Mickey Walker and Jack Dempsey—gone to join the silent glove welders, such as the unfortunate Ketchell.

The champion mitten maker began his craft here thirty-five years ago and his gloves were used in all title battles the last quarter of a century. His trademark was known the world over where the hempen square is loved.

At Levinson's plant—idle today—are the patterns of the famous hands of the mightiest men of the ring—patterns shaping made-to-order gloves which in turn shaped the history of boxing.

To hundreds of friends who gathered at his bier today, Levinson was like a Turner, the seascape artist; Morris, the chair maker; like Henry Ford, Thomas Edison, Fritz Kreisler and Babe Ruth.

He did his chosen work better than all the world and the world's path led to his door.

Chief Merrick, were guarding every cove and inlet. Thirty miles at sea where the rum fleet rolls in the Atlantic swells, the skippers were growing uneasy.

"It's getting pretty tight," one of the most active captains in the bootlegging business said. "It looks as though we will have to pick up and move along. Our landings have fallen off at least fifty per cent in the last month."

"We expect to stay out thirty or forty miles" one of the coast guardsmen said. "We are going to park there until rum row is cleared of ships."

Captain W. E. V. Jacobs, commandant of the coast guard in the New York area, explained that there had been no orders issued to his men "to shoot to kill."

Coast guard officers said the orders were first to give two preliminary warning shots across the bow of the vessels failing to give signals and then to "shoot to hit."

WALES WELCOMED BY PRETTY GIRLS

Dutch City In South Africa Grooms Royal Visitor With Banquet

CAPETOWN, May 5.—Eighteen-year-old girl residents of the Dutch city of Stellenbosch, Cape of Good Hope, cooked and served the luncheon which featured the visit of the Prince of Wales on his journey into Africa.

Guns from the Stellenbosch fort, silent for 250 years, fired a salute to the young prince. College students defied a temperature of 90 degrees and pulled the guns two miles to make them available.

The road from Capetown to Stellenbosch is thirty miles long and was lined with people seeking a glimpse of the royal visitor.

Girls Serve Prince
The prettiest girls of the district waited on the prince, serving him with turkey, chicken, roast beef and cold ham they had prepared. They brought in baskets of fruit and grapes, all grown in the district.

The chairman had announced that the dinner would be a speech-making. The crowd was insistent. The prince finally rose and said to the assemblage in words of their native language:

"I thank you for your welcome and for your hospitality."

ENGLAND'S PRESS PLAYS UP SPEECH

Houghton's Talk At Pilgrim Dinner In London Gets Copious Notices

LONDON, May 5.—English newspapers gave considerable prominence today to the address last night of United States Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton at the Pilgrims' dinner in which he warned Europe that American financial and moral assistance will be withheld unless Europe settles its quarrels.

"The speech was one of great moment when the probable effect of recent political changes in Europe is not yet clear," the Times said.

The Post said: "Houghton's warning was addressed particularly to countries of the continent, chiefly Germany. We suggest that while waiting for evidence of European good faith, America might re-examine the whole question of inter-allied debts. We are convinced the rigid attitude of the American official mind and the dunning speeches of Borah do not represent the influential sections of the American electorate."

Other Opinions
The Telegraph suggests that Ambassador Houghton's warning was inspired by President Coolidge.

The Manchester Guardian took the position that when the good faith of Europe was assured, America would participate officially in European affairs and "pull with its full weight."

The British foreign office described Houghton's speech as "interesting, but ambiguous in parts."

SAVING IS NOTED IN HIGHWAY WORK

All Construction Labors Are Speeded Up 50 Per Cent By Novel Devices

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 5.—Homes, industrial buildings, bridges, dams, pavements and roads, in construction of which concrete is used, are being made twice as fast today as they were ten years ago, according to cement experts. Through the time and labor saving devices developed in constructing work in the last decade, living conveniences and dwellings now are available to American families who never were able to secure them before.

One of the chief savings has been in time of construction, always a prime factor in costs. In the last twelve months, twelve stories of a 19-story apartment house in Chicago were erected in 20 days. A concrete bridge with a 97-foot span was completed across a Maryland river in less than 4 weeks. A new Buffalo stove factory, 256 feet long, 56 feet wide and 2 stories high, was constructed of concrete in sixty days.

Road Construction
It is in concrete road construction, however, that new methods have shown the most pronounced advance. In 1910 it required at least a month to build a mile of paved highway. Road commissioners then let contracts in units of 1 to 3 miles, while today a mile of paved road can be completed in 15 days and contracts are in units of 15 to 20 miles.

Improved machinery is responsible for much of this saving. Ten years ago the capacity of the ordinary concrete paving mixer was a two-sack batch or 12 cubic feet of dry material. The mixer of today turns out double that quantity every 2 minutes. In some cases central mixing plants are employed from which the mixed concrete is trucked to its final resting place from six to ten miles away.

Permanent central mixing plants, where a builder can drive up, get his loads of concrete, all ready for pouring, and carry them to the place of use, are now being built in many cities. This has been made possible through utilization of motor trucks.

SAN DIEGO, May 5.—City Auditor Moody has asked the common council to fix the city tax rate at $2.10 for the current year, an increase of 10 cents over last year. GOVERNOR BACK OF WARDEN SMITH

Richardson Blames Riots To Crooks Inside, Unsavory Politicians Outside

SACRAMENTO, May 5.—Recent rioting at San Quentin, claiming the lives of three prisoners and wounding several others, was due to efforts of Warden Frank J. Smith to bring the prison under his full control and break the domination of "the crooks inside and unsavory politicians outside," Governor Friend W. Richardson declared in a statement today.

"I am entirely satisfied with the management of the prison," said the governor. "The prison has been run so long by the crooks inside and the unsavory politicians outside, that naturally the attempt to put it under control of the prison board and the warden has met with tremendous resistance. Several incompetent guards have been dismissed and others will be discharged as they fail to do their duty."

"The escape of the murderers, Tanter and Hall, was due entirely to the negligence of guards, who have now been dismissed."

PAY FOR ARTISTS UP TO DELEGATES

Federation Will Consider Question of Salary When Broadcasting

By ROBERT MACK
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Regulations requiring the payment of all union musicians when broadcasting will be one of the principal subjects for discussion at the annual meeting of the American Federation of Musicians at Buffalo, May 14.

The federation is expected to insist that all of its members demand and receive compensation for their time on the air. It also may be proposed that additional pay for broadcasting be asked for members of orchestras whose music is picked up by dance floors and hotels but is not understood addition of such a rule at this time is extremely doubtful.

Paid in East
During the past six months, orchestras of the east in general have collected for nearly all of their time on the air. Strictly commercial stations have arranged good salaries for the musicians whose concerts and recitals have come under the head of "paid broadcasting material" for advertisers. Other stations which receive no pay for broadcasting have managed to pick up most of their union music from hotels and cabarets where the musicians are paid by the management of the hall or dining room.

Leaders in the federation wish, however, to prevent the orchestras in the future giving services to broadcasting stations without pay and playing from studios solely for the advertising they receive from their broadcast performances.

Loring, new members of the club, presented a short skit in two parts. H. C. Schumacher was named chairman of the bowling committee. Dr. Ripley Jackson spoke on Mother's day. C. H. International Council Of Women Hits Snag

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The League of Nations question today precipitated a sharp clash at the convention of the International Council of Women. In face of charges by the American patriotic council that the international body was fostering league propaganda, the Marchioness of Aberdeen, president, ordered the public barred from all committee meetings. The marchioness previously had ordered all committee hearings conducted in public. Council officials promptly denied the charges, but indications pointed to a lively battle when committee reports on international subjects, including the league and world court, are brought to the floor tomorrow.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service
NEW YORK, May 5.—Stock prices marched aggressively forward in most of today's session of the stock market. The market underwent considerable broadening, with activity extending to the oils and low-priced railroad shares. Motors and public utility stocks retained their leadership in the active list and new high record prices were established in representative stocks in each group.

The foreign exchanges continued to move upward. Sterling attained a new high record around $4.85 1/2 and Norwegian and Danish currency gained 14 points each. This makes a total gain of 31 points in Norwegian exchange since Saturday.

The sharp advance of Consolidated Gas to a new high at 83 was the feature of the market for utility stocks. Electric Power & Light moved up to a new high, at 2 1/2, as a result of which Utah Securities gained 7 points, at 108. Heavy buying of North American sent that stock to new high record prices for the year.

Oil stocks exhibited more stability than they have shown since the break in prices last March. Gasoline markets in the middle-west and in the mid-continent field stiffened considerably over last week. March gasoline consumption was reported at 850,400 gallons in excess of the February rate. With Standard Oil of New Jersey as a leader, the oil stocks moved up.

Dodge Brothers' preference stocks completed their recovery from last week's slump and sold well above par in active trading. Maxwell 'up' reached a new top, at 90 1/2. Mack Trucks and General Motors were active and strong. Mercantile company stocks, equipments and specialties were headed for higher prices most of the time, and profit-taking was comparatively small in volume. United States Steel and other of the industrial leaders were conspicuously active, as were the copper, shipping, sugar and independent steel stocks. Commodity markets were steady.

Oil stocks received a further boost in the last hour by reports of an advance in prices of Mid-Continent gasoline to 10 1/2c a gallon. Independent oils moved up to the highest prices of the day, with Skelly, Marland and Pan-American showing a gain of 10 to 15 points. Motor stocks declined slightly on profit-taking after reaching high levels. General Motors was the leader in the motor shares in this period. Buying of the public utilities went on without interruption. Utah Securities reached a new high, at 109 1/2, for a gain of nearly 9 points for the day.

Heavy selling of American Woolen sent that stock down 2 points, to 35 1/2, while the preferred broke, 4 points, to a new low at 72. Butte & Superior Copper was also weak and broke 2 1/2 points, to a new low at 6 1/2. Call money declined to 3 1/2 per cent. Sales today, 1,478,900 shares; bonds, $17,371,000.

MONEY & EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, May 5.—Call money on the floor of the New York stock exchange today ruled at 3 1/2 per cent; high, 3 3/4 per cent; low, 3 1/2 per cent. Time money was quiet. The market for prime mercantile paper was steady. Call money in London today was 3 1/2 per cent

ART EXHIBITION HIGHLY PRAISED

Interesting Subjects Shown
In Connection With
Eisteddfod Week

A special attraction of Eisteddfod week was the art exhibit of paintings hung in the rooms of the Fuller Paint Co., 219 North Brand boulevard. Many pictures of exceptional merit were exhibited by resident artists, as well as by prominent members of the Tujunga art colony and vicinity. Many of them were painted especially for this occasion, and some of the leading artists presented pictures quite different in type from their usual work. The subjects of the majority of those recently completed typified the "Spirit of the West," the dominating theme of the Eisteddfod movement.

The blue ribbon for the best painting in oils went to John W. Cotton, for a painting done during his recent trip to Palmdale, and is a charming bit of desert landscape. Mrs. Lillian Housnell was awarded a blue ribbon for "A Lady" in pastel.

H. H. Barry won a blue ribbon for a lovely marine in water color, John G. Fleming taking third with a picture of the foothills in late summer, with their wonderful yellows. Second place in water color went to Emma Kraft and third to Nell Walker Warner, for her painting of eucalyptus trees, a beautiful bit of natural grove, near the Palisades of Santa Monica.

Other Winners
First place went to John G. Fleming for a drawing in black and white, Walter L. Cheever exhibited one of his best recent landscapes. Blanche Ballagh showed a lovely marine from the Santa Barbara coast, "Poppy Fields," by Paul Swan, was clearly "the west." Laura Lee Sweet exhibited two pictures in oils, "Peach Blossom Time in Tujunga Valley" and "Eucalypti." Emma Kraft, for "Afterglow in Tujunga"; F. McNeely, C. Gard, western landscapes; Miriam Rich, "Evening on the Lake," "Receding Waves," "Jack," "Water Girl," "Princess," "The Pearl Necklace," and others. Mr. Barry exhibited "The Approaching Storm," "Pines and Oaks" and "Barton Flats." Another attraction was the exhibit of parchment shades by Mrs. James F. Armstrong, whose creations of unusual decoration and original design have attracted much attention among decorators during the past year.
